Ladies and Gentlemen

Good Morning

It is with profound pleasure that I stand here today to celebrate with you 20 years of liberation, 25th Anniversary of the UNCRC and now the 10th National Children's Summit on the theme "20 Years and Beyond: Advancing Child Rights".

Ladies and Gentlemen,

The Kenyan Children delegation is honoured to be part of these celebrations and we are enjoying the climate. Thank you for the warm welcome and hospitality.

The Kenyan Constitution of 2010 spells the rights of its citizens and especially the Bill of Rights. It also spells out the protection of all the children from any form of violence, torture and physical and psychological abuse, including corporal punishment.

Through the Devolved Government, Kenya has provided an avenue which seeks to provide services closer to the people as well as children.

In her efforts to address its children matters, Kenya has formulated policies and legislations on different aspects of children issues like Labour, Education, Health, drug abuse, human-trafficking, violence, abuse and exploitation among others.

Kenya has different Acts which spell out harsh penalties for any person charged with offences touching on children issues e.g the sexual offences Act, 2006; Female Genital Mutilation Act; Counter-Trafficking in Persons Act, 2010; Employment Act, 2007; Basic Education Act, 2013 among others. These policies are in the view of making Kenya a better place for children to live in.

Kenya has achieved key milestones in implementing the Children's Act, 2001, ACRWC and UNCRC in protecting and upholding children's rights. There is in place a National Council for Children services and a Children's Department under the Ministry of Labour, Social Security and Services.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We would want to congratulate the Kenyan Government for taking key actions to enhance child participation by aiding the establishment of avenues where children can meet and discuss matters that pertain to them. In Kenya today, we have the Children Assemblies at both the National and 47 countries. We also have Students Councils, Children's Club in schools where children participate on issues affecting them while in school. Children also participate in informing the UNCRC and ACRWC reporting on children issues.

The Kenyan Government has been in lead to protect the rights of children through campaigns, awareness creation, reviewing the school curriculum to have a section on children's rights, training of police, judicial officers and magistrates on child protection.

Kenya has a toll free line 116 which children and any other person can call and report on child abuse and exploitation. There are also Child Protection Units (CPUs), Gender desks at the police station and Child Protection Centres (CPCs). Kenya has a cash transfer for Orphans and Vulnerable Children and advocates for family environment for children and alternative family care for children.

Ladies and Gentlemen;

The Government seeks to promote free compulsory basic education. The Government has increased the budget for Early Childhood Education, gives bursaries and provides support for feeding programs in schools.

On name and nationality, every child has the right to a name and the government has been keen to sensitize the public on the importance of registering children at birth.

The Government also provides free maternal health care in all public health facilities and medical care for children under the age of five.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We are pleased with Rwanda's development over the 20 years in promoting children's rights. This is in view of many achievements including one laptop per child project, free and compulsory basic education, formulation of policies and legal and institutional framework to support children. Rwanda has also taken a great step to establish Children's Forums and the National Commission for Children which has done a recommendable job to even organise this summit. Let me also congratulate Rwanda which seeks to ensure girls are immunized against uterus cancer.

The children from Kenya have learnt a lot since our interaction with the Rwandan Children representatives from Sector and District level and we have identified good practices that we borrow on significant aspects like the uterus cancer immunisation, inviting EAC children delegates in our children forums just to mention a few.

Finally,

We request the East African Countries to borrow from our best practices. We sincerely want to thank the Rwandan Government for inviting Kenyan children to be part of this Summit and the celebrations.

GOD BLESS EAST AFRICAN COMMUNITY
OUR CHILDREN OUR RESPONSIBILITY
THANK YOU

The Guest of Honour,
Hon. Members of Parliament,
Officials from the Government,

The Media,
Fellow Children,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

All protocol observed

Good Morning, Mwramutse

My name is Izabella Kansiime, I am proud to be Ugandan, I am 16 years old.

On behalf of the Government of Uganda and all the Children of Uganda, I would like to thank the organizers for supporting our participation in this very important summit. We thank the Government of Rwanda, Ministry of Gender and Family Promotion, NCC Rwanda and partners.

We are indeed delighted to be a part of this very important summit when you celebrate the achievements of this Country for the last 20 years in advancing Children's rights and the commemoration of 25 years of the UNCRC.

A wise man once said, that you do not measure the development of the country, by how many tall buildings, nice roads and cars it has, but by how much investment that has been done in its citizens.

We in Uganda applaud Rwanda for the deliberate and strategic investment in the children and the young people of this country for you are rightly creating a critical and competent mass of future men and women that will take this country to even greater heights.

Another wise man also once said, that a successful man is not measured, by his accomplishments, but by the quality of his successors, successors that have been groomed and are proficient enough to grow his original vision to grander stature.

What Uganda has done to implement the UNCRC

As we join Rwanda to celebrate 20 years in advancing the children's rights and commemorating 25 years of the UNCRC, we would like to share what Uganda has done to implement the UNCRC in the last 25 years;

1. Firstly, Uganda ratified the UNCRC in November 1990, committing itself to implement all the provisions of the convention;

2. This was followed by a number of actions to domesticate the treaty. The Children's Act 2000 was developed and was essentially a means to translate the UNCRC provisions into local and applicable laws and policies to suit our Ugandan context;
3. In 1996, the government of Uganda also established the National Council for Children whose mandate is to advocate and monitor all policies and programs on children;
4. In 2000, spearheaded by the National Council for Children, the Country developed the National Program Plan of Action, a multi-sectoral plan to guide a holistic delivery of services for children across the country;
5. In 1997, Uganda also introduced free and compulsory Universal Primary Education – where all children from the age of 6 can attend free education;
6. To harness the fruits of Universal Primary Education, Uganda also introduced the Universal Secondary Education to be able to absorb the products of the Universal Primary Education;
7. Also, in Uganda, all children and mothers infected with HIV/AIDS access free care and treatment. This is to mention but a few achievements.

Although we may still have a few challenges, our government, in collaboration with partners is working around the clock to halt, and reverse these challenges.

Participating in this summit has given us a platform to pick a few lessons, for instance;

1. Creating a structure where children participate, right from the village level to the national level, is something that we have picked up and we promise to convince our Government to support its strengthening in Uganda.
2. Together with that, the Idea of an annual National Children Summit, is also something we must take on and we believe that next year we shall also invite you to the first ever Uganda National Children's Summit.
3. Patriotism, unity, courage, confidence and resilience are other things that we have picked from our fellow children and these, we promise to take on, once we return home.

As I conclude, we as Uganda, call upon the whole of East African governments to further strengthen the efforts towards realizing regional peace, for the safety and proper development of our children.

Together we can make East African fit for Children

Thank you for listening.

For God and my Country

Ladies and Gentlemen.

Allow me first of all, on behalf of the children of the United Republic of Tanzania to take this opportunity to express our gratitude for the invitation to attend this children summit. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Let me also take this opportunity to congratulate the organizers of this event which reminds the East African citizens on the importance of investing in children as a matter of fact that majority of the population of East African Countries comprise of children thus, empowering these children has got a significance role of empowering the economy of these countries.

As we are celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Children’s Summit under the theme “20 Years and beyond: Advancing Child Rights in Rwanda” together with 25th anniversary of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the United Republic of Tanzania has achieved the following as far as child rights and welfare is concerned:

1. Enactment of the law of the Child Rights which harmonizes all laws which touch the welfare of the child and at the same time provide conducive environment for handling issues related to the welfare and development of the child;
2. Establishing a Child Help Line that provides a conducive platform for children to express themselves when they need necessary guidance for rehabilitation;
3. Establishing the Junior Council of the United Republic of Tanzania which provides a platform for the children to discuss various issues related to the welfare and development on one hand and question the Government on the implementation status of the various children issues as stipulated in the CRC on the other hand;
4. Establishing the child protection system which aims at preventing and responding to issues related to violence against children. This is an ongoing initiative as it started in pilot areas and now it is mainstreamed in the whole country. Just to mention a few of them.

With these few remarks, once again thank you all for listening and let's build together East Africa fit for Children

Good morning

The Rt Honourable Prime Minister, I would first of all like to say how privileged and honoured I feel to make this opening statement on behalf of the One UN Rwanda Family and to join these landmark celebrations today. After all it is all about you, our dear and precious Children.

For this I would like to express our gratitude to the Government of Rwanda in general and the MIGEPROF and the National Commission for Children in particular for having closely associated us with this event. The UN Family has also been privileged to have been a close partner to the Government and the other Development Partners in the programmes aimed at promoting the development of families and children in Rwanda over the past years.

It seems like the 1st Children's Summit was not very long ago. But – indeed – it is already the 10th Anniversary. And we have all the reasons to celebrate because along the way, there has been many notable achievements.

This year, it is indeed significant as we are commemorating three occasions combined – The 10th Children's Summit, the 25th Anniversary of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the 20 years of Liberation – all with a promising theme – 20 years and beyond: Advancing Child Rights in Rwanda.

Celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Convention of the Rights of the Child today, we cannot help but be encouraged by the children who are growing up healthy, strong, educated and ready to give effect to the aspirations of the Convention – all a strong reality in Rwanda.

Indeed, there has been many achievements over the past two decades - from a strong focus on harmonious family development as a conducive environment for the healthy development of children; from declining infant mortality to rising school enrolment. Rwanda has emerged as a leader in tackling maternal and child mortality as well as promotion of family hygiene: it has registered the highest improvement in child survival in East and Southern Africa with under-five mortality falling by two-thirds since 1990. Rwanda has the highest primary school enrolment rates in Africa. For both boys and girls, it is on track to achieve universal access to primary education by 2015. All other areas – like - child protection, social protection, innovations have also seen commendable progress.

We in the UN Family are therefore pleased that on the whole, child participation is becoming systematic, sustainable, inclusive and integrated, in all settings. I am grateful that the views of children are taken seriously by the country and decision makers. These Summits are an excellent forum for children to participate and express their views and wishes about nation building, indeed about the country and the world they want to live and work in!

Dear Children – when you express your opinions – Rwanda definitely listens. Isn't that so? In the course of the nine years, you have provided practical recommendations for the Government to improve your well-being and create conducive conditions for you to grow up and live healthy and productive lives.

Bana Beza - the establishment of the National Children's Commission was the result of your recommendations. Your wish to ensure that all children live in healthy family environment resulted in the development of the Child Rights Reform Programme – successfully reintegrating children from institutions to families. And there are many more.

We commend the leadership and commitment of the government of Rwanda for making all this possible. Congratulations!

As we reflect on these achievements, there is still work to be done. The journey lies ahead.

It is an opportune time to reflect and take stock of progress, suggest ways to bridge implementation gaps and make a strong call to make the vision of the Convention on the Rights a reality for all children, as well as to highlight innovative approaches that can transform the lives of all children in the country going forward.

And also time for all of us - the government and all partners to recommit itself to the immutable rights enshrined in the Convention of the Rights of the Child – and to act with urgency, to advance those rights, for every child.

In line with our theme - By advancing the rights of children today - we help them become adults who will be able to assume responsibility for future generations – in turn, helping build a more prosperous and peaceful nation.

But, Bana Beza, one of the underlying principles of the Convention on the Rights of the Child is to ensure that you are not seen as passive objects but progressively as active agents of your own development and that of your communities and country as a whole. In this process I implore you to remember the enormous sacrifice and hardwork that President Kagame and his colleagues have done with the active mobilization of the whole Rwanda population to create a great country that you have today from one that had been brought to its knees in 1994. So prepare yourselves to take the country to even higher heights when you grow up. The Convention whose introduction we are celebrating today will continue to be an important enabling instrument for you in that process.

Let me also conclude by reassuring you that we in the One Rwanda UN Family, particularly through our lead agency, UNICEF, will step up our support to the Government's programmes that are aimed at assuring a good future for you all.

Bana Beza, Dear Children – the future is yours/Chers enfants l'avenir est à vous

Murakoze Cyane,

Thank you very much, Merci Beaucoup.
